

This could serve as a list for homework

- Daily: work on math facts (fractions to decimals)
- March 18th: determine a real-life example of when you would need to subtract a negative integer
- March 20th: write a short story showing how useful integers can be